International Women's Day

Number of beneficiaries: 35

Date : 8 March 2023

Where women are worshiped i.e. respected, the deities live happily. On the contrary, where women are not respected, all the work becomes fruitless, asserted the Principal Dr. Sheshrao Pawar. International Women's Day was celebrated at Shri Anand College Pathardi.

Every year, Women's Day is celebrated with a theme, the United Nations theme for 2023 is "DigitalAll: Using Research and Technology for Gender Equality". The aim of the concept is to recognize and honor women and girls around the world who are contributing to technology and online education. This year, on this occasion, there will also be an attempt to explore the impact of digital gender inequality on the lives of women and girls. In this program Dr. Pawar in his presidential address highlighted "Women - yesterday, today and tomorrow". The woman appeared to be struggling today as well as yesterday. But today she struggles to get an education, get a job and survive in today's competitive age. Today's woman is seen working in various fields. He further said that it would not be wrong to say 'Sky is the limit' for modern women. She has access to every field, including the kitchen and the universe, and she is effectively pursuing these opportunities. From Kalpana Chawla, Sunita Williams to President Draupadi Murmu, many examples can be given. He also informed about the activities being done for women empowerment in the college.

As the chief guest for this program Mrs. Jyoti Sharma, Director, Tirupati Balaji Co-operative Bank Pathardi, was present. In her speech, she told the students that women should encourage women. While working, no task is small or big, if you put your heart into it, that work will be appreciated. Troubles keep coming in life, but we have to overcome them and move on. While working in a bank, she dreamed of starting a bank herself and today she is recognized as a successful entrepreneur in a town like Pathardi. She said that this journey was definitely not easy for her, but with the help of everyone she could made it this far. "If you want to achieve your goal in life, never give up", Jyoti gave valuable advice to the students.
